TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

The Pope not a Home Ruler---Gale on the English Coast.

Canada to Demand Rectification of the Maine Boundary.

THE POPE AND HOME RULE.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—A correspondent of the Chronicle at Rome denies emphatically that the Pope holds the same views in regard to Ireland as does Gladstone. The Pope believes in the settlement of a grave question, but not in Home Rule.

GALE ON ENGLISH COAST.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—A terrific gale raged in the south of England on Saturday night. Many buildings were unroofed and there were numbers of shipping casualties in the Channel. A boat with a party of twelve persons which left Weymouth for a night's trolling, was capsized and ten of the party drowned. A sloop was wrecked off Dunkirk and four men drowned.

FRENCH MINISTERIAL CRISIS.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—The Figaro says today that on Friday next the ministry will propose a vote of confidence in connection with the Wilson investigation. A ministerial crisis is imminent. Flouvet is reported as saying that the ministry can be upset in forty-eight hours if the opposition wills it. There is no longer any talk of Grevy's resignation in advance of the Wilson investigation. For Grevy to resign now would be even more of a confession than Wilson's restitution. It is believed that the investigating commission will protect Wilson, but the entire Boulanger crowd will do all they can to keep up public excitement and secure the downfall of the ministry.

HE WOULD'NA TOUCH IT.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Lord Randolph Churchill denies the report that has been put in circulation stating that he is to be appointed Viceroy of Canada in place of Lord Lansdowne.

DEFIANT BLUNT.

DUBLIN, Oct. 28.—Sir Wilfred Blunt addressed three meetings to-day in the neighborhood of Loughrea. The crowds cheered him, but the police charged them, striking right and left with their batons. The mob defended themselves as well as they could with stones and clubs, but were forced to flee.

EMIN BEY AND STANLEY.

ZANZIBAR, Oct. 28.—Advices from Emin Bey have been received to the effect that the King of Uganda recently threatened to attack Emin's stations on the southern port of Albert Nyanza. The King, entertaining a suspicion of the Stanley expedition, designed to attack him, and sent an envoy to Emin to ascertain the object of the expedition. Emin explained the pacific purpose of the expedition and sent a present to the King. Preparations for war ceased immediately. Wadell is quiet and prosperous. Emin remained at the station awaiting news from Stanley.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 26.—A telegram received at the King's palace to-day brings news that Stanley has advanced about 760 miles since he was last heard of on August 25th. He was in excellent health. He had met with a friendly reception from the natives in the hitherto unexplored country through which he had to pass. As a precaution, Stanley had intrenched the camps constructed at all his halting places. This news was brought from Stanley Pool by the steamer Florida.

LADY BRASSEY'S DEATH.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A society paper says: The death of Lady Brassey, I am informed, was almost tragic. Maddened by fever, she jumped overboard from the yacht, and her husband, who followed her, was, with difficulty, rescued from sharing the death of his loyal and affectionate wife. Eight months ago a young reporter, who had been taken from the Bombay Gazette to act as Lady Brassey's Private Secretary, committed suicide by jumping from the Sunbeam when it was out two days from Bombay. He left a letter to Lady Brassey, and this communication, together with the dreadful manner of his death, in all probability preyed upon the peculiar, sensitive, and imaginative mind of Lady Brassey, as to aid to bring about, if not directly cause, this sad ending of her life.

RUSSIAN MAN-OF-WAR ASHORE.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 31.—The flagship of the Russian Pacific squadron is ashore off the rocks at Vladvostock.

MORMONS IN TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 31.—Some of the Mormon brethren have applied to the Porte for permission to establish a community in Turkey. It is expected that the request will be granted.

O'BRIEN'S SENTENCE.

DUBLIN, Oct. 31.—The appeal of William O'Brien, against the sentence of three months' imprisonment imposed on him by the Michellstown Court, has been refused, and the sentence of the lower court confirmed. On the announcement of the decision, an attempt was made to take O'Brien from the officers. The police succeeded in getting him away. Rioting is now feared.

AMERICAN NEWS.

A CANADIAN SUICIDES.

PHŒNIX, Ariz., Oct. 27.—The news was received in town yesterday of the suicide of Thos. S. Reily, a prominent citizen of Mesa city in this county. An empty laudanum vial was found by his side. No cause for the act, beyond despondency, is known. Reily was at one time a member of the Canadian Parliament.

GRAIN DESTROYED.

CHICO, Cal., Oct. 31.—A fire occurred on the ranch of D. M. Reaves, four miles west of this place. It destroyed an immense granary, where was stored about 350 tons of grain. The total loss will be $13,000; insurance $7,000; cause unknown.

SURROUNDING SWORD BEARER.

FORT CUSTER, Mont., Oct. 29.—It is learned on good authority that troops will move on Sword Bearer's camp on Monday or Tuesday night in such force as to intimidate him. Troops will surround him, cutting off his escape.

CONFLICT AVOIDED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The threatened conflict between the civil and military forces at Round Valley, Cala., reservation has been avoided by instructions sent today by the Secretary of War to General Howard to withdraw the U. S. troops now on the reservation pending a judicial settlement of the matter.

LARGE DIAMOND ROBBERY.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—The police announced to-day that a fortnight back a drummer for a New York jewelry house had his valise stolen from the sleeping car while eating his supper in San Bernardino. It contained between $12,000 and $13,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry. Three hard characters are in custody on suspicion of being the robbers.

VESSEL LOST.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 31.—The steamer Panama, which left New York on the 24th, went ashore last night. All passengers have been saved. The Panama was a new vessel.

CHINESE POISONERS.

DAVISVILLE, Cala., Oct. 31.—There was a post mortem examination held last night on the body of Homer Hallock, reported yesterday dying of heart disease at Briggs' ranch. Dr. Bates examined the body thoroughly, but found nothing indicating heart disease. Upon dissecting the body he found traces of poisoning and is now analysing the stomach, which showed this morning evidence of poisoning. There is a strong suspicion of foul play, as Hallock was last seen well on Saturday night at 11.30 on his way home. It has been ascertained that about 12 o'clock he was at a cabin of Chinese employed on the vineyard; also that he had considerable trouble with the Chinese, and the supposition is they have poisoned him for revenge. Much indignation was expressed to-day and trouble is feared.

A CANADIAN CLAIM.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Ex-minister Davs of the Dominion Cabinet will lay before the Fisheries Commission the question of the international boundary, settled in 1848, claiming that Canada was badly worsted. The Dominion will claim a large portion of the northwest of Maine traversed by the Canadian Pacific. The Montreal Gazette says to-day: The right of Canada has been clearly demonstrated by published documents. The controversy is of much importance in connection with the short line of railway from Montreal to Halifax and St. John.

[Ex-Minister Davs is a mistake, as there is no ex-Dominion minister of that name. The person meant may be Judge Day, of Montreal.]—Ed. Times.

REDUCTION OF RATES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Western Union Telegraph Company has decided to make a reduction of twenty per cent., beginning to-morrow, on ten word despatches between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Chicago and St. Louis. The rate will be 40 cents for ten words.

THE CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—The sheriff and police were considerably agitated yesterday by the circulation from an unknown source in the mails of a circular without signature or other identification, calling upon the working men to effect the rescue of the condemned anarchists on the day of execution. It closes in the following words: "The independence of the United States was brought about by the use of bombs and fire-arms. They are effective. Forewarned is forearmed. Any action that may be definitely determined upon should be kept secret, until the proper time. It is not at all improbable that the militia will be on the scene of any attempted execution. Further notice will be given later on."

DIFFERENT FROM ALABAMA INDEMNITY.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The Secretary of State is in receipt of a note from the Chinese minister here returning by direction of his government a portion of the Rock Springs indemnity lately appropriated by Congress, which represents the amount of six claims which is the final distribution of the appropriation as ascertained by duplications.

AN INSOLVENT BANK.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 31.—The Third National Bank will doubtless go into liquidation this week. It is stated to-day that the bank is perfectly solvent, and that depositors will be paid dollar for dollar. Deposits reach $200,000; capital, $500,000. The bank holds $200,000 of the paper of Rood and Maxwell, lumber dealers, who failed at Washburne, Wisconsin, last week.

PACIFIC COAST FISHERIES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—It is stated at the Treasury Department to-day that the U. S. fish commission steamer Albatross will sail for San Francisco on November 20th. She will reach her destination about the 1st of May. Her route will be through the Straits of Magellan. She will make no intermediate stops, it being desirable that she should reach the Pacific slope at the earliest practicable moment. Professor A. Lee will have charge of the scientific corps of the expedition. The object of the expedition is briefly to develop the fisheries of the Pacific slope. The Albatross will be employed for two years on the coast.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

NAPA, Cala., Oct 31.—Frank See, of Copelle Valley, while unslinging deer on his return from a hunting expedition yesterday, was killed by the accidental discharge of his rifle.

AN EMBRACER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Judge Sullivan has just overruled the demurrer to the indictment of Frank T. Northey, charged with embracery, and set the trial for to-morrow.

THE DECISION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The Supreme Court made no decision in the Anarchist cases to-day.

CANADIAN NEWS.

THE DEFECTS TO BE REMEDIED.

QUEBEC, Oct. 29.—Hon. Mr. Mercier, Premier of Quebec, in speaking of the work of the conference, said: "We have come to a unanimous conclusion as to the defects which exist and the remedy which should be applied to them. I am happy to state that the autonomy of the provinces will be most positively asserted as the real basis of our form of government. Its maintenance is a very difficult question of the financial position of the provinces, and their respective claims have been satisfactorily dealt with, and the conference has come to a conclusion which, if carried out, will meet the requirements of the various provinces without detriment to the general interests of the Dominion."

Dr. Trew's Funeral.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 31.—The funeral of the late Dr. C. N. Trew took place from the residence of the deceased at 2.30 yesterday afternoon. It was one of the most imposing funerals and the largest ever held in New Westminster. The odd fellows of New Westminster, the rifles and artillery corps were present in full force, and a large number of mourners from different parts of the district. The funeral service was read by the right rev. the bishop, assisted by ven. archdeacon Woods.

A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR.

Madame Christin de la Mothe Gives Her First Concert.

The concert given in the Victoria Theatre Saturday night by Madame Christin de la Mothe, assisted by some of our leading amateurs, was a great success. The parquette was crowded, whilst the dress circle was comfortably filled with the elite of the city. The parquette boxes were likewise taken. That on the left of the stage in the dress circle was occupied by His Honor Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Nelson and suite, the Hon. Robert Dunsmuir and his family occupying that on the right. The concert was announced to begin at 8:30, and sharp at the moment the members of H. M. S. Triumph in attendance, opened the programme with the overture, Soir d'Antoone by Boncella. Mr. Herbert Kent was the next to approach the footlights, and make his bow, singing the song, "The Mountebank," by Watson, with good effect. The appearance of Madame de la Motte was the signal for sounds of applause. For the first time she now stood before a Victoria audience and in the Cavatina of "Le Prophete," a andante and allegro, by Meyerbeer. She had made a difficult selection, the undertone of which would test her capabilities to the utmost capacity. The expectations of her friends were fully realized. Her effort was a splendid one, giving her ample scope for displaying the compas of her voice and the admirable manner in which she controls it. Her voice is a sweet contralto and so well is it cultured that the highest and lowest notes can be taken with the greatest ease. The close of the first verse at once stamped her as the best in her line which has yet appeared on the boards in the Victoria. She is a great acquisition to the musical circles of Victoria, and we are pleased to learn that it is the Madame's intention to take up her residence in our midst. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Versailles, of St. Boniface, who played the accompaniment with exquisite taste. At the conclusion of the piece, several bouquets were handed to the Madame, one of which represented a snowshoe and another a toboggan, as well as a basket of lovely flowers. Mr. C. A. Lombard was in splendid voice on the recit and air of Judith, by Concone. His friends claim that never before, to their knowledge, did he acquit himself so thoroughly well. He was accorded a generous applause at the conclusion of his part. This was the only piece sung by Mr. Lombard, much to the regret of his many admirers present. Miss P. Hartnagle, in the airis "Ernani," from Verdi, although laboring under a severe cold, sang very sweetly and distinctly articulated her words. A quality which is extremely rare with many of our vocalists who endeavor to drown the words and the sentiment of the author with the music. Mr. Thos. Gore was somewhat nervous at first in his violin solo, Variations Sur un theme de Bellini. As he proceeded with the piece he became cool and collected and handled his favorite instrument with skill and ability. He was deservedly encored, and graciously acknowledged the compliment conferred on him. Mr. Gore, it appears, forgot part of his music and had to make a hurried trip for it, so overheating himself that its effect was apparent. In the duo, Quis est Homo (Stabat Mater) from Rossini, Madame Christin de la Mothe and Mrs. D. Harris appeared to decided advantage. Mrs. Harris was in fine voice and appeared to great advantage. The two voices blended very harmoniously. They were warmly applauded at the conclusion of the duett, which was sweetly rendered by these ladies.

A gavotte, Bijou, by Kottaun, by the band, brought the first part of the programme to a conclusion. They also opened the second part with a selection, Traviata, from Verdi. Both of which pieces were rendered in exquisite taste. As Sir William Wiseman, Bart., came forward to recite Nellie's prayer, he was accorded an ovation. The gallant Baronet had not proceeded far in his task ere it became evident that he was a trained elocutionist. His articulation is perfect, his every motion graceful and in harmony with the subject matter he is handling. At the conclusion of this, his first recitation in public in Victoria he was loudly encored, and in response thereto gave a humorous Scottish recitation, highly characteristic of the Highlander and his character; his broken English, and peculiar expressions. The cute, crafty, far-seeing Aberdeenian was also introduced by Sir William in his recitation, which took the audience so completely by storm that he was again encored and good naturedly responded by giving another recitation, the scene of which was founded on the coast of France, where a hen-pecked son of Neptune had been picked up by a passing craft and ordered at a subsequent stage by the captain to marry a young girl with whom it was supposed the waif had fallen in love. On informing the captain that already he was a benedict and the husband of a very muscular wife, the captain desisted his efforts at match-making. The efforts of the famous Sothern in training Sir William have not been in vain, for he is indisputably a clever reciter and a talented elocutionist. Miss Moust, always a favorite with a Victoria audience, sang with fine effect the song of Ah che Asserta by Venzano, in which her fine, rich, pure soprano voice was shown to great advantage. Her voice was as clear as a bell and her articulation all that could be wished for. This young lady is amongst the best of our local amateurs, and is so rapidly improving that with careful training she will not have superiors anywhere. In the song of My Sole Command, by Campobello, Mr. Thomas Gore had an opportunity for displaying his rich baritone voice which he is carefully culturing. He is still young and will yet excell as a baritone, for few at his age can cope with him either for power, compass or richness. He was deservedly applauded.

Madame Christin de la Mothe rendered the Airia Gulathee by Mazas in an admirable manner. Her second effort was so acceptably received by the audience that in response to a hearty encore she gave the beautiful ballad of Believe Me in Those Endearing Young Dreams, with fine effect. This we believe was the Madame's first effort at an English solo. She again proved herself a perfect artiste for her articulation was perfect and every note well taken. Miss Angus gave a violin solo—a soulate by Handel. She was accompanied on the piano by her mother, Mrs. James Angus. This young lady handles the violin with grace, and a coolness worthy of the great masters who have preceded her. She completely captivated the audience, and in response to an encore gave a cavatina by Bach, which was also well rendered, although slightly lower in tone than many wished it to be. The Minuit Waltz, by H. Knight, played by the band, was charmingly rendered as to make many wish they were in a ball room, whirling around in the many waltz. The Double Quartette of Jerusalem, by Gunod, closed the programme. In this appeared the Madame, Mrs. D. Harris, the Misses Moust, and Hartnagle, Messrs. Lombard and Gore. The work was grandly sung by those taking part in it. At its conclusion the band struck up the national anthem, when the most successful amateur entertainment ever given in Victoria was brought to a close.

The verdict of every one present was that Victoria has a right to feel proud and jealous of her amateurs for well did they acquit themselves. The piano used on the occasion was a "Ronisch" instrument from the music store of Messrs. C. A. Lombard & Co., Government street. Miss Versailles who played the accompaniments is a neice of Madame Christin de la Mothe and is from St. Boniface, opposite Winnipeg, where she received her musical education.

THE LATE L. M. STARR.

His Early Life—The Terms of His Will, &c., &c.

Lewis M. Starr and his brother, Addison, together with a younger brother, came to Portland in the primitive years of the embryo city. They located there and began the business of tinsmiths and dealers in wares in the line of that pursuit. By their industry and correct business habits, their just dealings, and their integrity, the brothers gained the good feeling and the confidence of the public. They thrived by their merit, and trade flowed to them in just reward. The Starr brothers became rich. Lewis withdrew from the store and embarked in steamboating on Puget Sound with one of his brothers. They prospered and added to their wealth. They were everywhere respected because of their worth of character, rather than for their wealth. After retiring from steamboating, Lewis M. Starr went to California and made his home in Oakland. He died ripe in years, and honored by all who knew him. He was an honest man, a good man, an exemplary citizen. By his industry and thrift, his prudence and his sagacity, he acquired fortune. He was just and generous in the use of it. He married, in Portland, an estimable and beautiful young lady, in the home of the honored pioneer, David Monastes, and their married life was happy to the close of his earthly career.

His will has been filed for probate. The will is a stringent one. The estate is valued at $300,000, distributed as follows: To his brother Addison M. Starr, named as executor, $10,000, in lieu of all services as executor. To his neice, Mrs. Charles Merchant, of New York, $2,000. To his nephew, Lewis Starr, $1,000. To his nephew Addison Starr, $1,000. To his wife, his jewelry, personal property and $10,000, and she is made residuary legatee.

To each of his five sons—all minors—$1,000 per year shall be set apart for their support, education, etc., until they reach their majority. Then they shall be allowed $1,200 per year until they are 25, when their income shall cease. When they attain the age of 25 years they shall be paid $20,000 each. In case of the death or marriage of the widow before the youngest son, who is six years old, reaches the age of 25, then the trustees shall pay to all the sons, who shall have attained 25 years, a sum which, added to sums already received by him, exclusive of income and accumulations thereof will produce a total of 15 per cent. of the net value of the estate; and each son under 25 years shall receive a similiar sum when he reaches that age.

If a marriage or death occurs before any of the sons reach 25 years, then each shall receive 15 per cent. of the estate on attaining that age.

Incumbrance of the estate before distribution is forbidden under pain of disinheritance, at the option of the trustees.

The widow, within eight months from the probate of the will, must release all claims against the estate, which she may have by law and accept its provisions under pain of annulment of all bequests to her.

A codicil executed in August, 1887, directs the trustees to invest $5,000 in a homestead for the benefit of his brother Lucius V. Starr, and Ellen, his wife.

Cassiar News.

The season's business in Cassiar this year has been a fair one. The volume transacted being about the same as last year.

About $20,000 in treasure was brought from that camp by the Idaho yesterday and deposited in the banks here.

Forty whites and about 90 Chinese are wintering on the Stickeen and northern parts of that district.

The outlook for next year's business is good.

Cullbreath, Grant & Cook's pack trains will be employed in carrying supplies to the mines for the next two weeks. They have been kept very busy during the whole of the season.

The weather had been generally fine up to the 24th inst., when it turned cold, which would close mining operations for the season.

The Treadwell mine on Douglas Island is still producing as usual. It is believed with the increased facilities by way of additional stamps that the output will be nearly doubled, which at present is a very considerable one.

The Boston Co., located two miles further north, expects to have their mill of 160 stamps running by the 1st of December. It is claimed that the result per ton will equal that of the famous Treadwell. This company have been receiving considerable supplies in shape of coal, lumber, &c., by the British steamer Sardonyx.

It is reasonable to suppose that the Alaskan trade next year will be such as to require a regular weekly steamer.

A number of people who expected to return South for the winter are waiting for the arrival of the Sardonyx. The general health of the camp was good.

There was nothing new heard from the Yukon beyond that already reported by Dr. Dawson and his party as well as the others who came south by the Ancon.

GOVERNMENT SAVINGS BANK.

The statement of the Dominion Savings Bank for August has just been published. From the Gazette it is learned that the balance on 31st July, to the credit of depositors, was $21,221,480.92. The excess of deposits for the month of August over withdrawals was $108,732.95, making a net balance at the end of that month of $21,112,747.97. Of this large sum Ontario contributed $854,154; Manitoba $974,689; British Columbia $2,030,513; Nova Scotia $8,979,336; New Brunswick $3,146,579, and Prince Edward Island $2,127,473. It may not be generally known, nevertheless it is a fact, that Ontario has but one Dominion Savings Bank, located in Toronto. The savings of her people are deposited in the savings bank under the control of the post office department. In Manitoba there is but one, at Winnipeg; Prince Edward Island two, one at Charlottetown and one at Summerside; British Columbia three, one at Victoria, one at Nanaimo and one at New Westminster. In New Brunswick there are banks at 14 different places, and in Nova Scotia no less than 29 different places with Government Savings Banks. The largest amounts of deposits in any one place are at Halifax, where they amounnt to $3,451,826. St. John, N. B., comes next with $3,350,765, followed by Charlottetown, P. E. I. with $1,851,116, Victoria, B. C., with $1,506,826 and Winnipeg, Man., with $974,689. The smallest amount held at any one place is at Lingan, N. S., where the deposits are $3,805. For a considerable period Victoria lead Charlottetown by a considerable sum, but now the office here is behind the capital of the sea girt isle in the Gulf of St. Lawrence by over a quarter of a million. The sum deposited with the post office savings banks is in the neighborhood of $20,000,000.

The showing is regarded as an admirable one from the point of view of the earnings of the Canadian people. It is also considered as an alarming one from a commercial stand point, as it indicates over twenty-one millions of dollars withdrawn from the ordinary circulation of the country and placed on government deposit at a mere nominal rate of interest. The public business of the country demands considerable cash on hand wherewith to conduct it, but it is easily possible to obtain that at a nominal rate, provided our credit abroad continues good. It is an end much to be desired the investing by our own capitalists in the securities of the country, considered in the monetary centres of the world to be of a very high order. Their doing so would have the effect of keeping the interest accruing on the bonds of the Dominion within its bounds and in circulation amongst our own people. The present monetary stringency in the east will result in attention being directed to the enormous amount the government holds of the savings of a class of people who earn but small sums and are satisfied with a low rate of interest, the security being in their estimation the paramount consideration—the government and the post office savings banks in this respect being beyond question. It was hoped the recent legislation would have the effect of decreasing these deposits, and enlarging those in the chartered banks and loaning institutions authorized to accept of deposits. It is now found that whilst $300 is the limit for any person to be deposited in a year, accounts are opened in other names and transfers made in such a manner that the wise provisions of the act are completely set at defiance. There can be no doubt as to the beneficient effect savings banks have had upon our people. They are excellent institutions, as they educate the people to be prudent in their habits. As a general rule, when an individual has saved a certain sum, he is generally able to make a greater return out of it than the government is prepared to pay.

CHINESE TAXATION AT HOME.

The outer world is daily learning more and more of the Celestial kingdom. A few days since a Chinese professor delivered a lecture in Toronto in which he defended the religion of Confucius against that of Christianity. He was accorded, we are told, a patient hearing. There was much in the lecture referred to as well as letters which have appeared lately in New York journals from the pen of Chinamen which was instructive, both to the citizens of Canada and those of the United States. After minutely detailing the heavy taxation under which the citizens of both countries are burdened, Lung Pin Foo goes on to say: "Now, where does all money go that is consequent upon this outrageous "up-to-neck" taxation by this glorious republic Certainly the salaries of its officials do not eat it up, as they are, with hardly an exception, the poorest paid officials in the world. Even a second grade mandarin in China gets a bigger salary than the President of the entire United States, at least twice the amount. And yet there are more officials in China by at least ten times than there are in the United States, and the taxation in that country is so light that the people hardly feel the loss, there being no taxation upon anything in many of the provinces except salt and land actually cultivated. Upon the latter there is only something less than ½ per cent. of the grains raised, and upon the former 1 per cent. There is absolutely no tax upon homesteads or real estate not actually under cultivation, nor any personal property tax. Yet the imperial treasury of China is one of the richest in Asia. There is not a dollar of national debt, except that owed to the Europeans some years ago, when the opium was forced upon the heathen for the heathens' good. Even that outrageous amount has been largely paid off by the economical heathen politicians."

Under these circumstances the heathen Chinee is as little disposed to accept our method of government, as we are his social habits or he our bible or our religion.

W. J. MACDONALD, SENATOR.

Senator MACDONALD published a letter in Sunday's Colonist, in which he stated that he had "heard from several friends" that "a low venomous attack" had been made upon his senatorial dignity in THE TIMES. "True Briton" will possibly deal with Senator MACDONALD in his own way, and our reference to the question at present is not to defend that writer, but to call attention to the air of sublime indifference that Senator W. J. MACDONALD pretends to feel for public opinion as voiced by the press. It may possibly have been the Senator's intention to be sarcastic and by saying that he had "heard from friends" the substance of articles which he no doubt read himself, he possibly imagined he was clever, cutting and original. But the Senator was not original—he could not be even if the gubernatorial office was the reward; and as for the cleverness of the remark, why it has been the common retort of snobbery from time immemorial. When a public man—a grave and reverend Senator—says that his attention has been accidentally called to articles in the press (wishing to convey the impression that he does not read the journal immediately concerned) it is safe to conclude that he does not keep himself informed upon the public questions of the day, possibly from ultra economical habits, or that his sarcasm was perpetrated at the expense of his veracity.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL

The fifteen great American inventions of world-wide adoption are: 1, The cotton gin; 2, the planing machine; 3, the grass-mower and reaper; 4, the rotary printing press; 5, navigation by steam; 6, the hot-air engine; 7, the sewing machine; 8, the india rubber industry; 9, the machine manufacture of horse shoes; 10, the sand blast for carving; 11, the eccentric lathe; 12, the grain elevator; 13, artificial ice-making on a large scale; 14, the electric magnet and its practical application; 15, the telephone.

The death of Senator Senecal takes away one of the leading and most prominent spirits in the opposition circle to the Hon. Mr. Mercier. Since that event Rev. Cure Labelle, a clergyman of great influence in the Montreal district who has hitherto strongly opposed Mr. Mercier, politically, announces that hereafter he will give him a cordial support. Mr. Mercier is gaining strength on the right hand and the left, and bids fair to be a most successful political leader.

Attention is being directed in the United States to the way in which native-born Americans are being superceded in mercantile business by the foreign element, especially by Jews, Germans and Scandinavians. The foreigners, it is said are crowding out the Yankees in all sections of the Union. They are closer economists, harder workers, and look more closely after the small details of business. The fact is that the Yankee smartness and business capacity have been greatly exaggerated, and they are by no means such formidable competitors when pitted against men of other nationalities on even terms as people are apt to suppose.

The arrest of Sir Wilfred Blunt for assisting at a home-rule meeting in Ireland is an example of a sort of coercion which Irishmen can endure with great equanimity. Sir Wilfred is an Englishman of the government class—something of an enthusiast on any subject in which he becomes interested, but esteemed by men disinclined to trouble themselves about the sufferings of ordinary reformers. His meeting was not one of an illegal organization. It was not held by authority of the National League, but of the English Home Rule Union. The maltreatment of such a man, on such an occasion, will have more effect on English opinion than the murder of a dozen Irish peasants, or the resolutions of twenty American Legislatures.

It appears from the statement issued by the Board of Statistics at Washington that the exportation of American merchandise for the twelve months ending August 31 was greater by $16,691,507 than the imports for the same period. In the year ending August 31, 1882, the imports exceeded the exports $4,682,355. Since then foreign trade has been in favor of the States every year. In 1883 the exports exceeded the imports by $113,646,137; in 1884, $77,147,476; in 1885, $151,761,249; in 1836, $43,705,000. During this time the imports of gold have been $167,266,646 and the exports $146,848,728; the imports of silver $36,906,186, exports $15,206,205. The excess of exports over imports of both gold and silver for the six years has been $46,882,194.

Eugene Semple, Governor of Washington Territory, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior estimates the population of the territory at 143,669, an increase of 16,000 in the last two years. The taxable property of the territory, exclusive of railroad property, is given at $50,683,896, an increase of nearly $200,000 over last year. The settlements on the public lands, of which nearly 17,000,000 acres remain unsurveyed, have been retarded by the fact of the uncertainty of Northern Pacific titles and by the extension of Indian reservations, etc. The report speaks at length of the resources and capabilities of the territory in the way of crops, stock raising, mineral and lumber production, etc., as of great variety and importance. Of the 64,000 children of school age the average daily attendance is about 22,000. Labor is hardly equal to the demand. The salmon fisheries yielded $2,124,000 during the year.

DRAWN FROM LIFE.

"See-Saw, or Life in the Depths"—Gov. Swineford the Hero.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Several days ago a modest little volume entitled "See-Saw; or Life in the Depths—By One of Them," made its appearance on the shelves of local dealers. There was nothing remarkable about it. It was neither better nor worse than scores of similar publications which are annually offered for sale. It appears, however, that it is brim-full of dynamite. The author is Miss Cynthia Cleveland, a second cousin of President Cleveland. Miss Cleveland at present holds a clerkship in the Treasury Department.

FOUNDED ON FACT.

The majority of characters are Michigan people. The scene of the story is located in Michigan and Dakota Territory. Scarcely had the book made its appearance in Michigan before the newspapers began identifying the different characters. The villain of the story, Colonel Ralph Winston, proves to be no less a personage than Governor Swineford of Alaska. The writer of the book, which is autobiographical in character, represents Governor Swineford as a man who, while betrothed to herself, married another and inferior woman.

AN UNGRATEFUL MAN.

Moreover the book alleges that Governor Swineford would have been rejected by the Senate, upon the strength of serious charges filed against him, but for Miss Cleveland's influence, which finally secured his confirmation. All this time, according to the book, an engagement of marriage existed between the two. After his confirmation Governor Swineford wrote Miss Cleveland a cold letter of thanks and asked if she could point out a way by which he could show his appreciation of her kindness.

A CRY CAUSED BY PAIN.

The reply to this letter, which Miss Cleveland says is an exact transcript of the original, is as follows: "Yours of recent date is before me. I do not care for testimonials. I have not worked for that purpose. I have drawn to the fullest extent upon the strongest friendships of my life. I have secured for you the best Democratic and Republican influence that could be obtained in Washington and I have done all that any woman could do to insure success to your undertakings. Why have I done it? Because I had the same faith in you that I gave to you. I believed you the soul of honor. I loved you from the first. But when I heard the rumor of your intended marriage I determined to know the truth. Before I permitted my heart to go out of my own keeping I asked you if the report were true, and you assured me of its falsity. I believed you as I always have. I no more believed that you could trifle with the love of a true woman than that my mother in heaven could forget her child. I cannot explain to you the condition of my mind or health since this blow has fallen. There will have to be a great deal of brightness in your life to offset that which has forever gone out of mine. If God, who, in his inscrutible providence, will allow me no happiness here, will take me home, I will be content, for life now holds nothing; for my heart is broken."

IMPORTANT CHARACTERS.

President Cleveland figures largely in the book, as do also several persons well known in social and political circles here.

THE BOOK BEING SUPPRESSED.

A private telegram from Detroit, where the book was published, announces that it has been withdrawn from sale, and that an effort will be made to call in as many of the outstanding copies as possible.

THE SEAL FISHERIES.

Attacking the Lease of the Alaska Commercial Co.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Colonel A. E. Redstone, of San Francisco, who has been given a power of attorney to represent the Ship Owners' Association of the Pacific Coast, called at the Treasury Department this morning. The object of his visit was to present to Secretary Fairchild a statement of the alleged violations by the Alaska Commercial Company of every stipulation of the lease. The statement recites, in brief, that the company have failed to supply educational advantages and material comforts for the natives of St. George and St. Paul islands; that they have disfigured the coined money of the United States in order to coerce the natives into trading exclusively with them; that they have annually killed large quantities of seals in excess of the numbers allowed by the lease; that they have returned no revenue whatever to the government for the oil taken from the seals, whereas the sum of fifty-five cents per gallon is required by law, and that, through the influence of this company, ship-owners and seamen engaged in the capture of seals in Alaskan waters are arrested and imprisoned and denied the advantages of speedy and impartial trials.

Secretary Fairchild informed Colonel Redstone that he would grant him an audience upon this subject within a few days. Colonel Redstone will ask Secretary Fairchild, in view of the foregoing allegations, to cancel the lease of the Alaska Company to the St. Paul and St. George islands. It is probable, after hearing Colonel Redstone's argument, that Secretary Fairchild will refer all the papers in the case to the Chief of Customs' division to examine and report on the same.

The Great Cryptogram.

This long expected book, about which so much interest centers among students, is now offered to subscribers in Victoria by Major Downie. The author asserts that he has found the so-called Shakespeare plays a cipher story, curiously infolded in the text, and that the author is thereby shown to have been Bacon and not Shakespeare. The book is very handsomely gotten up, and will undoubtedly have a very large sale. Major Dowie will call upon our citizens during the next few weeks, and we bespeak for him a liberal patronage.

The Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored.—C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—P. Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but give me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazarus, St. John, N. B. ††

SONNET.

Love makes the solid grossness musical;
All melted in the marvel of its breaths,
Life's level facts attain a lyric swell,
And liquid births leap up from rocky deaths,
Witching the world with wonder. Thus, today,
Watching the crowding people in the street,
I thought the ebbing and the flowing feet
Moved to a delicate sense of rhythm alway;
And that I heard the yearning fates say,
"Soul, sing me this new song!" The autumn leaves
Throbbed subtly to me an immortal tune;
And when a warm shower wet the roofs at noon,
Soft melodies slid down on me from the eaves,
Dying delicious in a mystic swoon.
—Richard Realf.

A NOBLE VICTORY.

The waves break on the shore of the North sea. A sharp wind from the north sweeps over its surface, driving the waves high before it. On their crests rises and sinks the white foam. How the water surges forward, as if it would rush far into the land. But again and again it retreats from the white sand, only to return in haste the next morning.

On the shore lies stretched out the village of Husom. Every little house stands by itself, often separated from its neighbor by a wide space of perhaps fifty feet, which is generally made into a garden, in which a few feeble plants draw a scanty nourishment from the ground. With no less difficulty do the inhabitants of Husom manage to get their living. They are all fishermen, and the sea is their real home, on which they go out for miles to cast their nets. When the sun shines on a smooth surface it is an exhilarating occupation, but when a sudden storm springs up while the boats are far from land and a fog settles down upon the water like a broad, heavy mantle, then one understands how hard are the conditions and the perpetual danger attending the labor by which these men earn their bread.

The sea runs high and most of the boats have pulled in to land. Two men are still working to save their property in the same way. They are both young, large, vigorous men, with sun burned faces and toil hardened hands.

At last their boats too rest on the shore firmly secured. "Lars," said one of the men, straightening up and buttoning his short jacket, "this will be a fierce blow to-night."

The other nodded: "It is lucky that none of us are out."

Meanwhile they have started homeward, and stride along together in silence. The only street of the village is quiet. It is dark, here and there a faint light gleaming from a little window.

They are passing a small house, and, almost as if by a secret agreement, they approach and glance through the lighted window to the inside. An old man with white hair and beard sits in a large arm chair; his head has fallen forward on his breast—a picture of the life fast sinking to rest. At the table, on the opposite side, sits, in bright contrast, a young girl, sewing—a fresh, lovely face, with round, rosy cheeks and luxuriant, fair hair. Kate Mason is the prettiest girl in the village, and the most industrious, on whom many a young fellow looks with earnest glance. Early and late she is busy, supporting herself and her aged father by her own hands.

The loiterers at the window have turned and gone on their way. At last Lars said: "Good night, Christoph," and crossed the street to his home. He had heard the reply to his greeting, and now waited and listened, standing by the fence that inclosed his little tract of ground. Christoph had not gone on, but had turned back—for what? Lars felt a misgiving. He, too, hastened back. The wind drives full in his face, but he does not heed. Now he hears Christoph's steps before him, but cannot see, for it is very dark. There stands the little house where Katie Mason lives. Christoph stands by the window. Lars sees him plainly in the light of the lamp that falls full upon him. He hears a tap on the window, and now Christoph has his hand on the door, and it opens before him.

"Thou, Christoph! What brings thee so late?" asked Katie, holding on to the door, which the storm was shaking.

"I was passing and saw thee sitting, so I stopped to bid thee 'sleep well.'"

"Thou dear!" she said, putting out her hand.

The wind seized the door thus set free, and flung it wide open against the wall. But Christoph, using all his strength, drew the girl into the hall and closed the door. Lars grew hot under his coarse jacket; hot in spite of the blustering wind. He stepped close to the door and heard speaking within, but could not distinguish anything. He waited, his heart filled with the pangs of jealousy. How long he stood he knew not; it seemed an eternity to him. At last the door opened and Christoph stepped out. "Sleep well, dear girl," he whispered. "Goodby, dear Christoph." The key was turned in the lock. Christoph went home, the joy of love requited in his heart. The other, too, turned homeward, but a long time passed before he reached the little house.

They had grown up together—Lars, Christoph and Katie. The three had played together continually as children, and Katie would be carried by no others or drawn on the sled by none but Lars or Christoph. When they grew larger they went to school together and were confirmed together in the little church of the neighboring village. No strife had ever come between them, never had the girl shown whether she had preferred one of the lads to the other. As these developed into strong men, Katie bloomed into still greater beauty, as was apparent to other young men of the village, and Rob Steffel ventured to intimate as much, in a rough fashion, to the girl. The following day his place in the boat was empty; he was sick, his father said—the truth was, Rob would not show his discolored face. From that time the young fellows held themselves aloof from Katie Mason. But between Lars and Christoph the old intimacy began gradually to diminish. They went with Katie to her first dance. Who should be her first partner? They disputed long over it out of the girl's hearing, and at last, with heated faces, appealed to her to choose between them. Katie looked at them, and for the first time felt a misgiving that if she chose one the other would be deeply hurt. So she said: "It makes no difference to me which I dance with first, but if it is of so much account to you draw cuts." They did so, and Christoph was the lucky one. While they were settling the matter Katie looked on with apparent indifference, but her heart beat fast under her bodice, and when it was decided she almost unconsciously smiled with evident pleasure. Lars saw it, and from that day jealousy began to take root deeper and deeper in his heart, and there was no lack of occasion to develop it. Margrit Hermensen, Katie's best friend, went to the altar to plight her faith. Katie was chosen to carry the wreath, accompanied by Christoph. When Lars heard of it he opposed it vehemently.

Both young men grew violent, and only Katie's presence of mind in declaring she did not wish to go to the wedding prevented perhaps the very worst outbreak of Lars' passionate storm of anger. After that the two avoided each other as much as possible, but sought to be with Katie. Each knew that the other loved the girl, and both felt secretly conscious to whom Katie's heart inclined. Christoph, the calmer and more self possessed, felt a silent, blissful happiness taking possession of his heart when the girl looked at him with her blue eyes so sweetly and kindly. Lars, more vehement, believed at times that Katie loved him, her manner was always so cordial. But, again, when he saw her with Christoph, a voice within told him that he was not the favored one, and he suffered bitter torment. So it had gone on till the evening when the young fishermen returned together from the shore. Christoph's heart beat fast at the quiet, peaceful scene in old Mason's cottage, and it drew him back with irresistible power to leave a greeting for the beloved one But after he had entered the hall in his effort to close the door, so violently flung open by the storm, he suddenly became conscious of Katie in his arms. And while it raged and stormed without he kissed her, and in wild happiness he whispered: "Katie, do you love me?" She did not answer, but her lips pressed his.

The next morning Lars stood on the shore mending his boat, when Rob Steffel came by.

"You are early, though you came home late. Were you with your sweetheart?"

Lars looked at him, red with anger. He struck the wood with his ax, and the chips flew far around.

"Hoho!" continued the other, "you did not have good luck, it seems."

"Keep still!" cried Lars. "What is it to you whether I have good luck or not?"

Rob Steffel stepped nearer. "You are unjust to me," he said. "A big fellow like you should not take it so meekly. Christoph has plainly taken the fish away from you."

Lars made no answer, but his hand clasped the ax convulsively. "You and I have no love for Christoph," continued Rob; "let us join together against him," and he held out his hand.

"I want nothing to do with you," replied Lars, and turned away, resuming his work.

Rob Steffel laughed scornfully, and went away, but the sting that his words contained remained in Lars' breast. When the other was out of sight he flung down his ax, and went back to the village. Slowly, with downcast head, he walked. Before the house of old Mason he paused, then with a sudden resolution he entered. But, as if bound, he stood in the doorway—in the room stood Katie tenderly embraced by Christoph. A painful silence prevailed for a moment, then Christoph stepped toward Lars, put out his hand, and said: "Katie is my betrothed since last evening. I intended to come directly to you and tell you."

He did not answer, only a bitter smile quivered on his lips. It was exceedingly painful to the girl. She felt what a blow she had given him, though blameless herself. She longed to say something to him, but could not find the right word. So she only looked at him, and without speaking held out her hand to him, but he turned away and left the house.

Toward noon the shore was alive with men. The sea gleamed in the sunshine again, the waves played gently, and a soft wind was blowing. The day was favorable for a large haul. All the fishermen of the village were gathered together, the nets and oars were put into the boats, the sails spread wide, and the little fleet sailed far out into the broad, beautiful sea. Katie stood on the shore, sending greetings to her sweetheart as long as his boat was in sight. Then she went home, smiling happily to herself. She had much to do. After she had seen to her old father, who sat quietly in his chair and smoked a short pipe, she went about her work. How it flew under her hands today, though frequently she stopped, gazing down lost in sweet dreams. Then she worked so much the faster again. So hour after hour flew by unheeded. At last the day's task was ended and Katie went to the door. But the weather had changed, the sun had disappeared behind thick clouds and the sky hung in gray folds over the sea. The fishermen also had finished their work. The rich booty lay in the boats, promising a fine reward for their hard labor. But in the east it was black and threatening. They must reach home before the storm came on. The little sails spread out, the ships flew over the water, causing the foam to break over the deep dripping sides. Then came the first blow strong against the sails; the loaded boats threatened to upset. The men were forced to take in sails and trust wholly to the oars. It grew dark, and the sea lifted itself restlessly into huge, far rolling waves. Then the storm broke loose with wild force; it howled and lashed the sea till it reared in short, foam capped waves. The men rowed with all their might; the shore could not be far away, though it was not visible in the darkness. Ahead of all the others shot Christoph's boat; close behind him was Lars'. It seemed as if the two were running a race for the safety of the shore. A wave seized Christoph's boat, lifted it high and flung it with its broad side against the end of Lars' vessel, breaking it in. Lars saw it sinking before him. A thought shot through his heart, frightful and vivid: "Let the waves bury Christoph and Katie is yours." But the thought was gone in a moment; in the next he had leaned far out, grasped the constant friend of his youth, now struggling with death. But he lost his own balance, sitting on the extreme edge. He flung out his hand to catch hold of something, but found nothing, and plunged headlong. A huge wave seized the boat, threw it far from the place, and in the roaring of the waves a last, despairing cry was lost.

At last the fishermen had painfully reached the shore. Women and old men full of anguish stood waiting the returning ones.

"Katie," cried a voice from the darkness, and the girl felt herself embraced by two arms.

"Christoph! thank heaven that you are here!"

She led him to her house. He was silent all the way, only holding her fast. She, too, hardly spoke. When they reached the house, she noticed for the first time that his clothes were saturated, and asked the reason. Then his mouth quivered with repressed pain, while he answered:

"Katie, the storm destroyed my boat. Lars snatched me from the waves, but he himself fell into the sea and"——

"What!" she asked, breathlessly.

"I could not save him," he said, almost inaudibly.

* * * * * *

After a few days the sea washed the body of Lars ashore. It was the only sacrifice it had demanded that day. Lars had no parents living, but even parents could not have shed more burning tears than Katie and Christoph when he was buried in the little churchyard. The thought of him, the consciousness that his sacrifice had secured their happiness never left them.

Long after Katie went to the altar with Christoph, and when they came from the church their first steps were directed to the grave of Lars.—Translated from the German by L. V. Stur.

The Khedive's Charming Wife.

A German lady who recently was admitted into the presence of the khedive's wife describes her in The Vienna Neue Freie Presse as follows: "She is still young, at most 24 to 26 years old, and has an extremely charming face. Her whole appearance would be bewitching were she not an Oriental, and therefore, young as she is, already too stout to be perfectly beautiful, according to European notions. She has large dark eyes, with long, heavy eyelashes, a dazzling complexion—to which art has contributed nothing—and the loveliest little mouth and teeth. Her neck and arms, as well as her small, fat hands, glittered with diamonds, and her dark, fashionably arranged hair was encircled with wreaths of precious stones, and yet somehow her toilet seemed not overladen. On the left side of her white surah dress, whose long trail was completely covered with rich lace, she wore a brooche of fresh orange leaves and white roses; and below it a miniature of the khedive set in diamonds, on a little table by her golden tabatiere, with the signature of Abdul Aziz in diamonds and a large fly fan of ostrich feathers, whose handle glittered and sparkled with the slightest motion."—Boston Transcript.

They Grow Corn in Georgia.

It is said the corn is so rank, dark and green on the Connasauga bottoms that the light from the fireflies can be seen flickering through its somber shade, even when the sun is high in the heavens. An old farmer tells a good one about a fellow who lost his way in one of these vast, dark forests of corn and was utterly unable to extricate himself. An exploring party, with lanterns, went in search of him. When, at last, "the lost was found," he was discovered in the top of a tall cornstalk astraddle of an ear of corn, where he had been watching for the last twenty-four hours for the sun to rise.—Dalton (Ga.) Look Out for Them.

A quantity of spurious quarters and fifty-cent pieces, as well as counterfeit ones and twos, Dominion issue, have been put in circulation in Winnipeg. It is thought the latter are some of the well-known New York "green goods." The coins are well made, says the Call, but can be easily detected by their softness and light weight. They are working their way westwards and will shortly reach this city. Look out for them.

Important.

The goods damaged by water in consequence of the fire in the Arcade building will be sold at private sale commencing on Tuesday at Spencer's Arcade. Brussels Carpets, Tapestry Carpet, Felt and Hemp Carpet, Rope Matting, Kidderminster and Three-ply Carpets, Hearthrugs, Mats.

Men's and Boys' Hats, Caps, Ties, Gloves, Shirts, Socks, Underwear; also the goods damaged by the smoke. All goods will be marked in plain figures and sold for cash only.

The Late Dr. Trew.

The mortal remains of the late Dr. C. N. Trew, of New Westminster, were interred yesterday (Sunday) afternoon. The funeral was the largest ever witnessed in that city; being Sunday it seemed as if the city had turned out en masse. The military turned out in full force, and also the other organizations of which he was a member. It was indeed a solemn occasion. Many were present from Vancouver, Port Moody, and other points in the vicinity of the Royal City. The deceased had not yet reached his 50th year. He was a genial, kindly friend and a great favorite with all who knew him. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his death. At the meeting of the B. C. Medical Council to be held to-morrow another gentleman will have to be proposed as president of that body instead of the deceased.

"Milton Nobles" To-Night.

This talented actor and his elegant company arrived by the Olympian from the Sound this morning and will hold the boards at the Victoria for three nights. They open this evening in Mr. Noble's great play, "From Sire to Son." The Denver News says of this play: "It is the finest and best staged drama that has ever held the boards at our cosey little opera house." A particular feature of this evening's performance and something entirely novel to Victoria theatregoers, will be the introduction on the stage of the old Cariboo coach "Wilmot" and two horses, the stage being too small to accommodate a four-in-hand. This is one of the best companies that has visited us for some time and none should miss the chance of seeing them. The plan of reserved seats is rapidly filling up.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Edwin Johnson, Q. C., S. M.)

One of our leading butchers was charged with obstructing the sidewalk by hanging meat outside his place of business. Mr. Charles Wilson appeared for the defence. His Honor considered it necessary to enforce the by-law against everyone, and as the offence was clearly contrary to law the defendant was obliged to pay the cost of summons.

Jim, an Indian, charged with being drunk. Fined $5 or one week.

Chin Gi, a Chinaman, charged with assault; remanded until to-morrow.

Chung Chee, charged with assaulting the wife of Chin Gi. Remanded.

Gertie Jones was arrested this morning and charged by Officer Thomas with creating a disturbance on Johnson street. Fined $10.

A Nass River Indian arrested by Officer Robb was fined $25 for being in possession of an intoxicant.

Ah Leek, a Chinaman, charged with stealing $90 from the Colonist Hotel. Mr. Gannaway appeared for the defence. His Honor did not consider the evidence sufficient and discharged the Chinaman.

William Lee, another Chinaman, on remand for larceny, was charged with threatening to murder a witness should he give evidence against the prisoner. Mr. Walls appeared for the prosecution and asked for a remand until Friday next. Mr. Walls informed the court that a witness had disappeared and could be found three miles from the city. The counsel asked for a warrant for the arrest of this witness who was in hiding through fear of the prisoner. The case was remanded until Friday.

ON THE WING.

Movements of People We Know and have Read of.

Mr. John Grant, M. P. P., returned on Sunday evening from Cassiar.

Captain Clancey, late superintendent of the O. R. & N. Co. Puget Sound division, is in the city. His successor is Mr. E. D. Howe, of Illinois, a friend of General Manager Holcomb.

Mr. C. J. Fish, of Messrs. Fish, Hyman & Co., of the well known importing Havana cigar firm, Montreal, who has been in Victoria for some days back, leaves for the east this evening. He is a guest at the Driard. During his sojourn in Victoria he has made many friends who will be pleased to see him in our midst again at an early date. This house handles none but the genuine article, one brand only. Twice a year a member of the firm visits Havana to make purchases.

The Fisheries Commission.

Capt. J. D. Warren leaves for Ottawa and Washington to-night. It is understood the Capt. will present the claims of the Victorians employed in the Behring Sea fisheries to the British and Canadian representatives to be present at the conference. All will agree with us that but few are better posted on the subject than is Capt. Warren.

The Premier.

Commencing with to-day (Monday) the time schedule for the sailing of the Premier comes into operation. Hereafter she will leave Vancouver on Monday and Thursday at 2 o'clock p. m., arriving at Port Townsend at 10 o'clock the same night, leaving there at 11, arriving at Seattle on Tuesday and Friday at 3 o'clock a. m., leaving there at 8 and arriving at Tacoma at 10 o'clock. Returning the Premier leaves Tacoma at 2 o'clock p. m., on Tuesdays and Fridays, arriving at Seattle at 4 o'clock same days, leaving Seattle at 6 o'clock a. m. Wednesday and Saturday, arriving at Port Townsend at 9:30 on the same days, leaving there at 10:30 a. m. and arriving in Vancouver at 6:30 p. m. on the same days.

What Am I To Do.

The symptoms of Biliousness are unhappily too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A Bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, also, he has an excellent appetite for liquids but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events.

The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhœa or Constipation may be a symptom or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this if not effect a cure try Green's August Flower, it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

Sealers Released.

U. S. Marshal Atkinson was a passenger from Alaska yesterday on the Idaho, and left for San Francisco by the Sound for the purpose of closing out the sale of the seal skins seized last year on the Thornton, Carolina and the Onward, amounting in number to about 2,000, and in value at last year's rates to about $15,000. In conversation with parties in this city he stated that he had orders to release the vessels seized last year, now lying at Ounalaska, but has received no instructions to bring them to Victoria. The owners residing here will not go to the point named for them and decline having anything whatever to do with them unless surrendered in Victoria. On other points the Marshal was very uncommunicative.

Capt. Petit, of the schooner Grace, with that vessel, had arrived at Sitka prior to the departure of the Idaho with the seized skins stored at Ounalaska. Up to the time of leaving there had been no decision arrived at as to the disposition of these skins, which amount in number to about 12,000, supposed to aggregate in value in the neighborhood of $80,000.

The Steamers.

The Princess Louise reached her wharf yesterday about 2 o'clock. The Yosemite arrived from New Westminster a short time previous to that hour. They report very dense fog in the straits.

The Yosemite left for New Westminster this morning at 8 o'clock. She will return to-night with passengers and mails from the east.

The Princess Louise will leave for Vancouver at her usual hour to-morrow morning, viz. 2 o'clock.

The Olympian arrived and departed on time this morning.

Commencing with to-morrow (Tuesday) morning the Yosemite will leave for New Westminster at 9 o'clock, enabling passengers from the Sound for the mainland to reach that city hereafter Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday. Returning on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. There will be no change in the Burrard Inlet steamer's schedule.

On the Fraser river route for Hope and way landings, the steamer William Irving will leave New Westminster every Wednesday, and for Chilliwhack and way landings every Monday and Saturday.

On the Barclay Sound route the Maude will leave Victoria for Alberni and Sound ports on the 29th of November.

A TRUE BRITON.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—Your correspondent "True Briton," seems somewhat mixed on the Metlakahtla question. Such a conglomeration of argument is rare among your correspondents. There is one thing I can easily discern, that the said Britain is a churchman or a great admirer of the Bishop who has been the source of trouble in this serious Indian affair at Metlakahtla. The whole population of British Columbia, except those within the pale of (the church), believe that the Metlakahtla Indians have been wrongly treated. Mr. Duncan may have his faults, but it can be said of him that he is the most successful missionary that has ever undertaken missionary work in this province. Notwithstanding all this your correspondent "True Briton" likens this man to a circus manager who has a few tamed and educated Indians, and accuses them of "playing tricks upon the government." Further on he justifies the government in getting "this show transported to a foreign country." I would ask any reasonable man in British Columbia who is the traitor? The Indian tribes of Metlakahtla or the government of Sir John A. Macdonald? Trace this subject down to its inception and see who are the traitors? For many long years these people have been living in peace and quietness, and all true British Columbians felt proud of the civilized people of Metlakahtla until the church saw fit to disturb them by placing a bishop among them, the results being disorder, dissatisfaction and the expulsion of the natives of Metlakahtla. The merchants and those who had business with the tribe know well the loss, financially, to our province; but what does the Bishop or "True Briton" care for this loss as long as an ecclesiastical battle has been won by them. Had the government of Sir John A. Macdonald done its duty, the desertion of Metlakahtla would not have taken place and that settlement would be now as peaceful as it has been for the last quarter of a century. But Mr. Van Koughnet and other employees of the government will try and vindicate the course taken by their superiors in order that the old adage may be carried out, "Scratch my back and I will scratch yours." It is amusing to see these "cute" rushing into print, endeavoring to wash away the sins of their employers. Sir John A. Macdonald was cognizant of the outrages perpetrated on the natives of Metlakahtla, and during his visit to this city last summer, had conference after conference with the Indian officials, but still their appeals were not heeded. How can Mr. Van Koughnet or "True Briton" vindicate the government in having this show (in the language of "True Briton") "transported to a foreign country." Your correspondent accuses Mr. Duncan and his followers as being disloyal. I would ask again with the full facts placed before your readers, who are the disloyalists? Who are the traitors? There can only be one answer, Sir John A. Macdonald and those in the province who have urged him on to this piece of infamy and disgrace. Senator Macdonald and Finance Minister Turner will have to give an account of themselves. I cannot say they have been traitors, but surely they can be accused of being inconsistent. Men who attach their names to documents to be presented to foreign officials, condemnatory of their own country seems strange, especially from a Finance Minister and a Senator of the Dominion. These actions are more inconsistent when we take into account the fact, that these men are servile supporters of the present government at Ottawa. If "True Briton" had confined his remarks concerning "the show and trained animals" to Sir John A. Macdonald, Indian officials, Senators and Finance Ministers, it would have been more in keeping with the times. The first mentioned of these "would take the cake" as a contortionist in seeking the favor of those who are likely to be in the majority and will sustain him in his present position as Prime Minister of the Dominion.

Had the Indians of Metlakahtla the same privileges accorded them as have the Indians of Ontario, viz., the use of the franchise, matters would be different. We would then hear another story from Mr. Van Koughnet and Sir John. They would then claim that they were the true friends of the Indians, their only defenders and shield in time of need. But such is not the case. Sir John A. thinks different now; he says in the words of "Briton," "That the government think it safer for themselves (the government) to get the show transported to a foreign country." LOYALTY.

THE COLONIST JENKINS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—Time was and not very long ago when the Colonist was noted for good taste and discretion. I am sorry to find that the old paper in new hands has degenerated. It seems to be used more as a machine for the glorification of its present editor and his immediate friends than for the edification of the public. To select from 250 elegantly dressed ladies 18 only as wearing garments fit to be described in the Colonist was an offence against social ethics; but when four of the 18 are connections of the Jenkins who did the describing the offence against good taste is atrociously impudent. In to-day's Colonist Jenkins confesses that most of the ladies at the ball declined to be described; but nothing daunted by the excellent letter of "An Aggrieved Mamma," he threatens to repeat the offence at an early day. Does Jenkins contemplate repeating his impertinence at the Governor's ball on Wednesday. If he does I trust he will receive a quiet intimation from the private secretary that his room will be preferable to his company. If after this warning he should persist in his course I trust he will learn to distinguish "diamonds" from paste, "pearls" from frosted glass and good breeding from vulgar assurance.

ONE OF THE DESCRIBED.

FATAL AFFRAY.

Enforcing Law at Kamloops—Three Indians Killed.

KAMLOOPS, Oct. 31.—About 11 o'clock on Saturday night, the watchman, Indian William and Indian Oxime, attempted to arrest one Alexander Potes, a half-breed, for being drunk and disorderly on the Indian reservation here. He resisted and drew a revolver and fired, killing William instantly. He then fired again striking Oxlee in the head and dangerously wounding him from the effects of which he is not expected to live. It is supposed the Indians then fired on Potes who was instantly riddled with bullets. Coroner Clarke has just proceeded to the reservation to hold an inquest on the bodies, the result of which will be wired immediately on receipt. All quiet.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 31.—A report from Kamloops states that in a quarrel between the Indians on the reservation opposite that town yesterday three Indians were killed and another seriously wounded. Particulars cannot be obtained yet.

MARINE.

The following notice to mariners has been issued from the U. S. Branch Hydrographic Office: "Notice is hereby given that hereafter the light at Cape Flattery, Washington Territory, will show a red ray covering Duncan and Duntze rocks. It embraces 7 degrees 15 minutes, approximately, between the bearings (from seaward) south-southeast three-quarters east, and southeast five-eighths east. The rocks lie in the axis of the ray."

The Douglas arrived from Nass at Departure Bay yesterday about noon.
